PROPOSED RULES

Present Customs standards for the approval of seals are no longer suitable to accommodate recent sweeping changes in security technology. In order to avoid unnecessary risk to the security of imported cargo, the Customs Service will not consider new applications for the approval of seals until new standards are adopted. After the adoption of new standards, presently approved seals may be subject to retesting and reappraisal.

The establishment of new standards will benefit seal manufacturers by defining more precisely the kinds of seals Customs needs and uses, thus reducing the engineering and development costs of prototype seals submitted to Customs for approval. New standards will also benefit seal users by encouraging the development of seals that are more practical, easier to affix, and more secure.

The Customs Service emphasizes that the suspension of its approval of new applications for car, compartment, and package seals does not immediately affect seals which have already been approved. Those seals will continue to be accepted for Customs use at least until new standards are adopted. Moreover, applications for seal approval which were received before the date of this notice will be considered for approval.

LEGAL SERVICES CORPORATION

[45 CFR Part 162]

PUBLIC ACCESS TO MEETINGS UNDER GOVERNMENT IN SUNSHINE ACT

Proposed Implementation of Statutory Requirement

AGENCY: Legal Services Corporation.

SUMMARY: The Government in the Sunshine Act, 5 U.S.C. Section 552b, requires certain agencies of the United States to hold open meetings, subject to prescribed exceptions, when agency members jointly dispose of its business. Although the Legal Services Corporation is not a Federal agency, Section 1004(e) of the Legal Services Corporation Act applies the Sunshine Act's provisions to the Corporation and the State advisory councils appointed pursuant to Section 1004(f) of the Act. This Part implements the statutory requirements, consistent with the Corporation's philosophy of providing the public with the fullest information practicable regarding its decision-making processes while protecting the rights of individuals and the ability of the Corporation to perform its responsibilities.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before February 27, 1978.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

DEFINITIONS

"Committee". The open meeting requirements of the Sunshine Act apply not only to meetings of the full decisionmaking body, but also to meetings of any subdivision thereof authorized to act on behalf of the agency. The Regulations go beyond the requirements of the statute by applying the open meeting provisions to every committee appointed pursuant to §1001.26 of the Corporation's By-Laws, regardless of the committee's membership or responsibility.

"Meeting": Not every gathering at which Board or Advisory Council members congregate constitutes a "meeting" within the meaning of the Sunshine Act. Some degree of formality is required before a gathering is considered a "meeting". S. Rep. No. 94-354, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. (1975), at 18 (hereafter "S. Rep."); Berg and Kiltizman, Government in the Sunshine Act: An Interpretive Guide, at 4. (Tentative Ed., 1977) hereafter "Interpretive Guide"). On the other hand, the term "meeting" includes more than a session at which matters are formally disposed of. At a minimum the term includes any gathering of the requisite number of members where a serious exchange of views achieves a consensus on a matter of official Corporation business. The Senate Report makes clear, however, that the Sunshine Act does not prevent members from engaging in informal background discussions to explore or clarify issues and expose varying views. The controlling distinction is between discussions that "effectively determine official action" and the others. Because the Act applies only to the "joint" disposition of business, moreover, it does not require that a gathering be open when the Chairman seeks the informal advice of his colleagues in preparing the case for the Corporation. The Act contemplates that each Advisory Council will designate a member to act as legal adviser and secretary and perform the functions described in §§1622.6 through 1622.8.

PROCEDURES FOR CLOSING DISCUSSION ON WITHHOLDING INFORMATION

The Sunshine Act does not expressly state that a separate vote of the members is required on each agenda item for which closed discussion is proposed. However, because "each portion of each meeting stands on its own for purposes of complying with the closing requirements" of the Act (Interpretive Guide at 24), the better procedure is to require an item-by-item vote. Section 1622.6(b) makes this requirement explicit.

Section 1622.6(c) provides procedures for persons other than members of the Board or Advisory Council to request that a particular meeting be closed. The Regulation goes beyond the requirements of the Sunshine Act by permitting a request for any of the reasons set out in §1622.5. In every instance, however, the person's interests must be "directly affected" by a discussion in order for the person to request closure.

Section 1622.6(d) requires that the result of every vote whether to close a meeting or a portion of a meeting will be made public. The report of the House Government Operations Committee states that this procedure will, "enable the general public to be aware of a * * * member's overall record on openness questions." H. Rep. 94-880, 94th Cong., 2d Sess. (1976), at 13. An explanation of the reasons advanced for closure, the relevant exemptions, and the persons expected to attend is necessary only when the vote has been to close.

CERTIFICATION BY THE GENERAL COUNSEL

The Sunshine Act's requirement of certification by the General Counsel for any closed meeting raises two issues. First, it is unclear whether the statute requires certification before the members vote to close the meeting, or even whether certification must precede the meeting itself. It is obviously preferable for the members to consult with their legal adviser before making a public decision to close discussion of a particular matter. Formal considerations may make such consultation impossible, however, and members may always reconsider a vote to close. Therefore, § 1622.7 requires only that certification by the General Counsel take place before the meeting is closed.

The second issue is whether certification that closure is proper is a prerequisite to closing a meeting from public observation. Although the agencies that have issued Sunshine Act regulations have split on this issue, we believe that it is not. The members will ordinarily follow the advice of the General Counsel, but the General Counsel is not likely to have intended that the judgment of a Corporation staff member should override that of persons appointed by the President of the United States or the Governor of a State. This is particularly true since the legality of closing a meeting ultimately depends on the discussion that actually takes place, not the anticipated purpose of the meeting. The requirement of certification by the General Counsel is properly seen as one of several procedures to ensure that a decision to close will be well considered.
